

Construction

Based on a solid foundation of construction industry experience, SingerLewak's Construction industry group fully understands contract accounting, construction reporting and contractor tax issues. You can rely upon our well-rounded business acumen developed from relationships with surety bond underwriters, agents and banks.

In addition to our CPA credentials, many of our construction professionals have earned the Certified Construction Industry Financial Professional (CCIFP) designation. Our construction industry professionals are required to obtain a minimum of 40 hours each year of continuing professional education, with many of these hours focused on changing trends in the construction industry. As a result, we are on top of the ever-changing and complicated tax laws governing the operations of our construction industry client businesses.

OUR DEDICATED PROFESSIONALS ARE EQUIPPED TO PROVIDE:

- Efficient quality audits, reviews and compilations to comply with the requirements of bonding companies and banks
- Pre-qualification reports for various state and local regulatory agencies
- Assistance with contractors in acquitting bank and surety credit
- Review of accounting functions
- Appropriate ways for contractors to minimize expenses
- Guidance to implement, refine and improve financial or job-cost systems
- Guidance to better direct and achieve business goals
- Assistance in succession planning
- Customized detailed financial statements and supplemental financial information for sureties and other third parties
- Corporate and personal tax planning
- Cost segregation studies

OUR TEAM OF PROFESSIONALS UNDERGOES INDUSTRY-SPECIFIC TRAINING AND ACTIVELY PARTICIPATES IN INDUSTRY-RELATED ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS:

- Associated General Contractors
- American Subcontractors Association
- Construction Financial Management Association
- Surety Underwriters Association of Southern California

